Very soon afterward war was declared, and in the turmoil, danger and excitement that ensued I well nigh forgot the annoyance and frequent inconvenience I had been put to by the suspicions of the police. Possibly I should have thought no more about them and have quite forgotten them by this drew forth a small bundle of papers tied together with tape. Undoing them, he handed to me a photograph and said:

"That, I think, is your photograph, Mr ——?"

At first I thought it was, but on looking a second time I saw that it was not and said:

"No, colonel, that is not the photograph I gave you a year or more ago, but it seems to me it is so much like myself that it might very well pass for me."

"I beg your pardon. This, then, will be yours."

He handed me another, which was the real one I had given him.

I compared the two and was really astonished at the resemblance they bore to each other.

"Can you wonder," asked the colonel, "that we took you for some one else?"

"I can't," I said. "But who was the some one else, and what did you want him for?"

"This individual," replied the colonel, taking the photograph of my double and speaking with great deliberation, "this individual was an Albanian and was wanted as a spy. He gave us a great deal of trouble—he was so clever. We took you for him. We were almost certain you were the man, although we were considerably nonplused by your apparent innocence of all knowledge of arms and military matters. But though we had our doubts you would probably have suffered had we not found the right man in the nick of time."

"Suffered?" said I. "In what way?"

"In this way," replied the colonel, and he made as though tightening a rope beneath his right ear, at the same time emitting a sound like the dropping of a catch or bolt.

I comprehended his meaning. I had very narrowly escaped hanging as a supposed spy. It was gratifying, but made

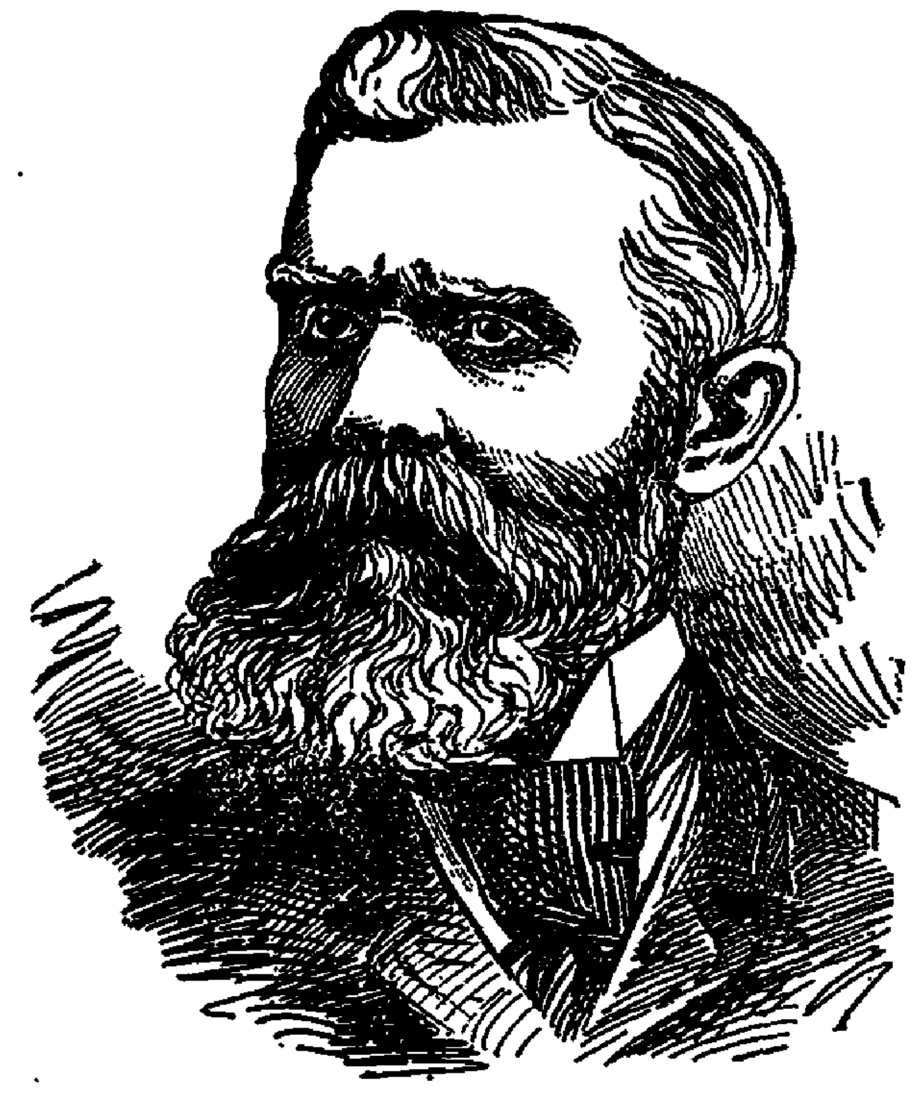
A MAN OF BROAD ACRES.

What Thomas Harrison of North Dakota Owes to Paine's Celery Compound.



The world has had in all just 15 decisive battles.

But every man has in his life more decisive battles than this.

The important epochs in man's life that settle for him wealth, position, and often life itself, come without warning.

Weakness, indecision and lack of nerve force at these turning points is fatal. In long and doubtful sickness, when life itself trembles in the balance, a little more strength and power of resistance to disease makes the difference between life and death.

Thin people with depleted, diseased blood run big risks. Careful men and women all over the country are building up their systems and storing the nerve centers with energy now it is spring. They are taking that remarkable blood purifier and nerve food, Paine's celery compound.

It cannot be repeated too often that the blood is the fountain which supplies every part of the body. If this life-giving medium lacks vigor and richness, nerves, brain, heart, kidneys, and lungs immediately suffer. The weakest spot will give way first.

If you find yourself growing thin, nervous, without appetite—look out. You are starving some important organ through inappropriate nutrition.

Thomas Harrison is the proprietor of the famous Harrison farms of North Dakota. He holds the office of notary public, and is coroner of Traill county. He writes from Blanchard, No. Dakota:

"Two years ago, when the grip was prevalent in this country, I suffered very much from this trouble. The disease lingered with me until it developed into catarrh of the head. For this loathsome trouble I tried many remedies advertised for catarrh without any permanent relief, and while spending the winter of 92-93 in Los Angeles I was treated by a specialist without any better results. Seeing Paine's celery compound advertised, I tried it, not expecting much relief, as I thought that I could not be cured. I used one bottle as directed, and was entirely and permanently cured. This was over six months ago, and I have not experienced a return of any of the symptoms, though I have been exposed to the inclement weather in North Dakota and have not caught the least cold this winter, when had I been troubled with the catarrh I would have had cold after cold all winter. I will cheerfully answer any inquiries as to the correctness of my statements. Many around here are using the compound on the strength of my recommendation. It makes people well."

THE PRESIDENT COMING TO MIDDLETOWN.

The Sick May Receive Medical Services Free of Charge.

The President and members of the European and American Staff of German, English, Irish, Scandinavian and American Doctors of New York city will be at the Russell House, Middletown, on one day only. The sick and afflicted may consult them without charge during their stay.

If you are incurable they will tell you; therefore invalids must not take offence if they are rejected, as no case will be accepted unless there is a moral certainty of a cure being effected. These Doctors are graduates of the best universities of Europe and America; they are of the highest standing in the medical profession and have had unlimited experience in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases and Deformities. As the latest methods, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every hundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor cannot give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free, and, if curable, they will treat you; if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor will visit Middletown one day each month. Office hours from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Decided Against the Carrier.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Postmaster General Bissell decided against ex-Letter Carrier Slater, of Fort Wayne, Ind., who had appealed to him for reinstatement in his office, from which he was dismissed by Postmaster Rockhill. Slater alleged that the removal was because of his politics, while the postmaster alleged neglect of duty, impoliteness and other things prejudicial to the service, all of which charges Slater denied.

Fears of Flood in Oregon.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 26.—The prevailing warm weather has melted the snow in the mountains, causing the waters of the Columbia and Willamette to rise until they now stand twenty-three feet above low water mark. Families living on the flats in lower Albany have been compelled to move out.

PUSHING THE TARIFF BILL.

The Senate Gets Through with Five More Pages of the Measure.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The senate disposed of five pages of the tariff bill yesterday, completing the consideration of the metal schedule except the paragraphs relating to lead and zinc and their manufactures. These paragraphs promised to precipitate a struggle of some pretentions, and as they were reached late in the afternoon it was deemed best to allow them to go over until today. Mr. Hill, of New York, it is understood, will make the fight against the duty on argentiferous lead ores and pig lead. The interesting features of the day were the debate on the Hawaiian resolution, Mr Blanchard's speech and several sharp encounters between Mr. Harris and Mr. Hoar, which preceded the consideration of the tariff schedule.

The entire afternoon in the house was consumed in a discussion of an omnibus resolution from the committee on war claims, grouping together thirty-seven claims for cotton, etc., aggregating $1,040,000. Half the time was taken up in a discussion on a point of order against the grouping of so many bills in one resolution. The only business transacted during the day was the passage of a bill for the relief of Thomas B. Reed, and the success of this bill seemed to be due in no small degree to the name.

Smith Case Nearing the End.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 26.—The proceedings in the Smith case, which is an appeal against the heresy proceedings at Cincinnati, yesterday reached the last order, and the members began to give expression to their individual views as the roll was called. Forty-five three minute speeches were delivered, and the trend of opinion was shown by the fact that only eleven of them were in favor of sustaining the appeal. The proceedings concluded with a speech made by a member of the prosecuting committee. A vote is expected today

Burns Declines a Cabinet Office.

LONDON, May 26.—The Times says that Lord Rosebery offered to John Burns, M. P., the labor leader, a position in the government when Mr Gladstone resigned, and again when Mr Mundella resigned Mr Burns declined on both occasions to accept office, giving as his reason that he was best able to serve the interests of workingmen on the outside.

Mrs. Cleveland Home Again.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Mrs. Cleveland arrived home from Buffalo at noon today. She did not learn of the president's arrival in Washington on Thursday until it was too late to complete arrangements for departing Thursday night, and she was obliged to change her plans.

A Reservoir Bursts.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 26.—The reservoir above the town of Avoca burst yesterday, and Langcliffe mines were flooded. The mines are idle, and no work can be done until the water is pumped out. Three hundred men are thrown into enforced idleness.

A Point for Owens.

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 26.—The Democratic committee of the Seventh congressional district will meet here to determine the time and manner of naming Representative Breckinridge's successor. The Fayette county Democratic committee met and elected W. B. Hawkins, a strong Owens man, as chairman in place of John J. Riley, who is a warm Breckinridge man.

International Amenities.

BOSTON, May 26.—The commonwealth of Massachusetts entertained the British naval officers last night at an informal dinner at the Parker House. The table was spread for forty persons. There was no speechmaking and only three toasts were proposed: "The President of the United States," "The Queen" and "The Governor." Governor Greenhalge presided.

SATURDAY, MAY 26, 1894

The friends of Col. Breckinridge controlled the Congressional Committee for the district which met at Frankfort, Ky., yesterday, the vote being six to one. The primary election was ordered held Sept. 15th

The Senate Bribery Investigating Committee finds that Buttz tried to bribe two Senators to vote against the tariff bill. The committee also finds that Buttz was irresponsible. Whom then did he represent and whose money was he offering? The investigation seems to have stopped before it had fairly begun.

It is suggested, if disorder continues in the coke and mining regions of Pennsylvania, deputy-sheriffing will become a regular occupation. It is fortunate that these are not Republican times or Congress would be asked to care for it as it has other Pennsylvania industries, and protect it from ruinous competition with the pauper deputy sheriffs of Europe.

Driven from the mails by rigidly enforced laws, the lottery, which seems to carry its office in its hat and is heard from first in one place and then in another, is doing business through the express companies. This right is, however, soon to be taken from it for the Senate has passed a bill, in which the House will doubtless concur, making it a felony to send or carry lottery tickets, advertisements, etc., from one State to another.

All the petitions for Woman Suffrage presented to the constitutional convention are tied with corn colored ribbon, the women of Kansas having selected that color when they agitated for the ballot, and the Suffragists of this State having decided to adopt it as the color of the movement. If surface indications as to the temper of the convention count for anything, the color of the movement will have faded to a very sickly yellow by the time the convention gets through with it.

The Senate Investigating Committee made no progress, yesterday, in its attempt to find what foundation in truth there is for the stories that the Sugar Trust has exercised a potent and corrupting influence in fixing the duties on sugar in the Senate tariff bill. Newspaper correspondents, who had given circulation to the story, refused to testify as to their sources of information and their refusal strengthens the belief that they accepted sensational rumors as facts and based their stories of corruption on nothing but rumor. The investigation must be thorough; it must not stop half way, for the people have the right to know whether legislative favors have been bartered for cash, or whether reckless and unscrupulous newspaper writers have "faked" a public scandal.

The Y. P. S. C. E. Entertainment—A New Restaurant—New President for the Bank—Competition in the Milk Business

Correspondence Argus and Mercury

—The entertainment given in the lecture room of the Reformed Church by the Junior League of the Y. P. S. C. E. was largely attended, although the weather was so unfavorable. It was both pleasing and profitable.

—Chas. J. Dillon, who is to open a New York restaurant in the Fowler building, Orange avenue, on Memorial Day, has had the front of the building painted white and has also had the interior of the building neatly and cozily refitted. He has won much esteem from the travelling public as a landlord and we feel sure that he will meet with the same favor as a restaurant proprietor.

—Memorial Day next Wednesday. The banks in town will be closed all day.

—Geo. H. Stoddard, formerly of the Columbus Trust Company at Newburgh, has been elected President of the Walden National Bank. T. W. Bradley, who was president, resigned in order to give Mr. Stoddard the place.

—The banks at this place will observe the Saturday half-holiday throughout June, July and August.

—The village is well supplied with [illegible] here at present. There are [illegible] and two more will open [illegible] the next two weeks. There [illegible] cutting prices this summer. [illegible] up some nice [illegible] milk.

LAWLESS WESTERN COAL MINERS'

A Train Wrecked—Eight Hundred Miners Bound for Pana to Drive Non-Union Men from the Mines—An Army of Deputies on Guard.

By United Press

LISELL, Ill., May 26—A coal train was wrecked, last night, south of Ogle's, by running into an obstruction placed on the track by strikers. Guards were dispatched from Lisell to protect the trainmen while clearing the wreck away. The strikers placed the obstruction on the track to wreck a coal train carrying the product of non-union labor.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 26—Eight hundred miners who came here on a Big Four train from Grant on their way to drive men from the Pana mines are still here. The railroad officials have demanded of the authorities to drive the men from the train, but they refuse. The Mayor says the railroad should take them away.

Miners are preventing Big Four engines from coaling at Coal Bluff. The strikers called on the Mayor for food to-day.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 26—About 9:30, to-day, Pana, from which all communication had been cut off, was heard from. Everything is quiet. There are 1,500 deputies on guard.

TROUBLE FEARED AT HACKENSACK

A Thousand Strikers to Visit That Place This Afternoon.

By United Press.

HACKENSACK, May 26—The Hackensack silk mill is still guarded by deputies sworn in by Sheriff Bogart, yesterday. All the workmen were escorted to work, this morning, for fear of violence from angry strikers. Officers in the mill learned, this morning, that another large army of a thousand strikers intended to walk to Hackensack, this afternoon, and the sheriff's deputies are preparing for riot.

The West Hoboken and Homstead mills will be opened on Monday.

POPULIST DELEGATES MUST WALK

By United Press

LITTLE ROCK, May 26—The Populist State Central Committee decided, yesterday, that delegates to the State Convention, July 10, should avoid railroads and march overland. Delegates enroute will stop at a number of towns and Populist principles will be proclaimed by speakers of that belief.

VOTE ON THE LEAD ORE DUTY

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The Senate, after long discussion, defeated the amendment to increase the duty on lead ores to 1½ cents a pound, the existing rate. The votes was, yeas, 25, nays, 31.

BLOODY BATTLE BETWEEN MINERS AND DEPUTIES

By United Press.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., May 26—One miner was killed and several wounded before dawn, to-day, as a result of an attack by miners on a train containing deputies. The loss to the deputies is not known but miners say fifteen of them were killed. The miners retreated with their wounded.

It is now denied that any men were killed by the dynamiting of Strong mine by strikers, yesterday.

THE BUSHVILLE MURDERS

The Black Art Invoked to Discover the Parties Guilty of the Crime.

From the Monticello Watchman.

A clairvoyant from an eastern city, who bears a high reputation in her magic art, visited, a few days ago, the scene of the murder of Jacob Moore and Mrs. Raymond. It is said her services were procured and paid for by two well known citizens of this county, whose names we will not now give.

After the seeress reached the place she went into a trance and described the murder of the two old people with every conceivable minuteness of detail. She informed her employers that there were three men present, although one did not actually participate in the murder, but was a silent and inactive spectator of the bloody scene. They were all persons who were well known to the victims, whose dying breath was spent in a vain appeal for mercy to their heartless assailants. She refused to divulge the whereabouts of the guilty parties only to the ears of those who employed her and were to pay her for her services.

BARNUM AT WALTON

No Show Given—The Grounds Wet—A Bridge Breaks Down Under a Wagon.

Barnum's show was advertised to be given at Walton, yesterday, and thousands of people drove in from the country roundabout from many miles distant, and the O. and W. landed 1,250 passengers at the station, but all were disappointed as no show was given. The grounds were wet, and if the show had taken place it would have been in mud half knee deep. But soon after the wagons started for the grounds one of the heavy wagons went through the bridge over the east branch of the Delaware and, of course, the other wagons could not cross and then the elephants could not have been induced to pass over an unsafe bridge, and the show was abandoned.

There was much grumbling among the disappointed people, but there was nothing to do but take it out in grumbling and go home.

—Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Goshen, on Thursday, for [illegible], where they have gone to [illegible] at the scene of the late Judge [illegible].

—Mrs. [illegible] is the guest of Mrs. Henry [illegible]. [illegible] has taken the [illegible] cottage on [illegible] street for the summer.

—Wonder is sometimes expressed that marriages are less frequent now, adays than they used to be in years gone by, but occasionally one reads of [illegible] something that throws a light upon the mystery. The world [illegible] to gossip on a recent issue of a [illegible] paper two paragraphs, one of which told of a bride who astonished her [illegible] by [illegible] her [illegible] off her face by her husband; the second concerned a young man whose [illegible] of his [illegible] had [illegible] her with pads whereas she [illegible] had one of her teeth. He [illegible] refused to pay the bill for repairs. Now reports such as these just quoted are not calculated to draw a young person of the gentler sex into matrimony, to have her features spoiled and her teeth [illegible] by the man who has vowed to love and cherish her. Even if she has not a pretty nose four weeks' constant pulling would surely not improve its shape. If a man spends that happy period known as the honeymoon, in pulling his wife's nose off her face, what would she be likely to look like at the end of [illegible] months of wedded bliss? After he was through with her nose, had put out her eyes, removed her ears, pulled out her hair, and jerked off her arms and legs, she could scarcely be expected to be either a useful or ornamental member of society. As to the second case, it is hard to think that somewhere a young woman sits mourning with [illegible] heart and teeth; but it is fortunate that she discovered the perfidy of her betrothed ere it was too late. Probably that young man will the perfidy natural to his sex, is wandering about hunting young women until he finds one whose teeth are made of sterner stuff.

DEALING IN HUMAN HAIR.

How Makers of Wigs and Switches Treat Their Stock in Trade.

"Dealing in human hair is a peculiar business," said the proprietor of a wig-making establishment to a reporter. "People do not understand the ins and outs of a business that must on its face seem so simple.

"The mere matter of obtaining hair with which to make wigs, switches and other hairwork to adorn heads poorly favored by nature seems easy, but it is not so. We have to exercise the greatest care in buying hair, it being absolutely necessary to know from what source it has been obtained. A great deal of hair comes from the ash barrels and garbage piles. You can see that material of this kind would not be at all desirable, yet people often wonder why one wig costs four times as much as another when in appearance both are the same.

"The source from which the hair is obtained has a great deal to do in determining the price of the goods. If hair has been cut form a fever patient, the price asked is considerably lower than if it had been cut from the head of a healthy person. Hair retains disease germs longer than anything else. That this is appreciated is shown by the fact that even after hair found in uncertain places has been put through the severe cleansing process to which all the material used is subjected, still it does not command the same price as the healthy article. One would think that this process would kill all disease germs, but it does not seem to increase the value of such hair.

"When hair is collected, it is thrown into vats of boiling water, where it is left to boil for a considerable time. After that it is put through a chemical preparation, and then, after being combed out and sorted in sizes, it is laid away for a year. We never use any hair that has not been treated at least a year. Each box is marked with the date on which the hair was treated, the place from which it came, etc., so that we have a full history of every bit of hair in stock.

"We meet some peculiar people in our business. You would soon be convinced that women cannot claim exclusive title to vanity. We find men who are hairless more difficult to please than women. They insist upon having this bald spot covered just so, and their way invariably happens to be the only way in which it cannot be fixed."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Horse With a Mustache.

"Look dar, Bill. See dat hoss wid a mustache!"

This explanation from one street gamin to another attracted the attention of a reporter and a few friends with him who were conversing on the corner. Looking in the direction of the boys, he discovered that Letter Carrier Thomas Brown had driven up his little wagon to collect the mail from the box. Attached to it was a small sized sorrel horse, which had, sure enough, an elegant mustache about 3 inches long and curled in a manner which would excite the envy of any dude. From Mr. Brown it was learned that the horse was about 6 years old, and that he purchased him from a negro. The negro raised him from a colt, and in early life he commenced sporting his mustache. To relieve himself of the bother of answering questions, the colored man had kept the whiskers trimmed, but Mr. Brown, since he became possessed of the animal, had permitted them to grow.—Nashville American.

Power of Imagination.

A curious case of "cure by suggestion" is reported from a large German hospital. A girl of 18 was under the impression that she had swallowed a frog, which was alive in her stomach and often jumped almost up into her throat. The doctors had vainly tried to cure her of this illusion, and she was rapidly dying, when it occurred to one of the medical men to put a tube into her mouth in which a small frog had been placed. The lively creature jumped almost immediately out of its prison house onto the table in front of the girl, and a youthful student put it into spirits, labeling the bottle, "Extracted from a stomach." The moment the girl saw these stare a beaming smile spread over her pale face, she took food at once and greedily and is now completely cured.—Westminster Gazette.

Myrtle at Royal Weddings.

Near the flag tower at Osborne and bordering on the carriage entrance to the palace is a charming garden, which contains a very large myrtle tree grown from a sprig taken out of the wedding bouquet of the princess royal in 1858. Each royal bride has since carried a piece of myrtle from the bush in her bouquet on her wedding day, and two bits were sent to Coburg for the use of Princess Victoria Melita. Even the Duchess of Coburg had some of the myrtle from Osborne in her bouquet when she was married, the queen having sent the pieces all the way to St. Petersburg in charge of Lady Augusta Stanley.—New York Sun.

Rabbit Skin Jelly.

According to Figaro, a new and successful industry has been discovered in the selling of rabbit skins to confectioners for the making of calf's foot jelly. The hair is taken off and used for stuffing of couches, manufacture of hats, etc.; then the skin is subjected to certain processes until the oils are extracted. It is said that over 5,000,000 skins are annually imported into England from Melbourne alone.

A Woman and a Clock.

A woman who would spring on an unsuspecting husband such a ghostly looking object as an illuminated clock deserves to lose it, as a Biddeford woman did. The husband awoke in the night and saw what he took for a bullseye lantern staring him in the face. He made a rush for the supposed burglar, and the clock is no more.— Lewiston Journal.

The Recovery from Disease of Charles Homan and Wife, Looked Upon as a Modern Miracle—As Helpless as a Child from Inflammatory Rheumatism—Charles Homan Restored to Health by a Simple Remedy—Others Use it with Success—Physicians Everywhere Prescribing It.

RIVERHEAD, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.—Public opinion is always worth heeding, and public opinion in this village has not made a mistake in the exalted position it has placed Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. The family of Charles Homan of this place increases the list of residents who have been benefited by its use.

Favorite Remedy was first introduced in the family by Mrs. Homan, who has been afflicted for years with an awful pain in her back, occasioned by chronic kidney complaint; at times she suffered so that she was unable to lie down, sleep was impossible, and she walked around with much difficulty. Physicians prescribed various medicines, but to no purpose. Learning of the great good others had received from the use of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, she purchased a bottle and began to use it with most satisfactory results. To use Mrs. Homan's own words, "It saved my life; why it is worth its weight in gold. I know over twenty people who have taken Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in every case it has benefitted them. My sister, Mrs. Loomis, suffered creeping paralysis; began to take it and it did her a world of good. Three years ago my husband was suffering dreadfully from inflammatory rheumatism; both hands and feet were swollen to an enormous size; had pains in his back and head; for one whole year he was such an awful sufferer that my neighbors expected to hear of his death any day. Four physicians prescribed all sorts of medicines, but he kept growing worse. He wasted away from 200 to 130 pounds. Finally, he began to use Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in a short while he could sleep and eat well, and to day he is as well as ever in his life. The two druggists in this place say they sell it so fast they cannot keep it in stock." Other Riverhead people who have been benefitted by Favorite Remedy are Geo. Benjamin and wife, Lyman and Geo. L'Hommedieu, Benjamin Adams and John Prigsley.

In speaking to one of our physicians about Favorite Remedy he said: "Its great value lies in the fact that it dissolves the excess of uric acid in the blood, thus curing the disease."

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is a never failing specific for diseases of the skin, liver, kidney, or blood. It restores the disordered liver to a healthy condition, corrects the worst cases of constipation: it is a certain cure for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women. It cures scrofula, salt rheum, and erysipelas. For nervousness, loss of sleep, or that worn-out feeling, it has no equal. In cases of rheumatism, dyspepsia, gravel, Bright's disease, diabetes and bladder troubles, it has cured where all else failed. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold by all dealers at $1 a bottle, or six bottles for $5.

"ADAMANT" WALL PLASTER!

The New, Cheap Substitute for Common Plaster.

It is very hard and very adhesive; it does away with the warping and shrinkage of doors and casings, and the building is not saturated with water, as it necessarily must be when common plaster is used; it costs originally but little more than lime plaster, and in the end its superior qualities make it immeasurably cheaper; it saves waiting several weeks or months for the building to dry out; it does not crack or fall off, even in the case of leakage; it is applied easily by any good plasterer; it is the only material with which repairing can be done neatly and to stay.

AN INDIAN MUTINY.

Unless the Signs Fail, England Is Likely Soon to Have Trouble on Her Hands.

One does not look to the staid and dignified Spectator for the absurdities of sensational journalism, and therefore its grave announcement of a belief that another Indian mutiny is close at hand will much intensify the growing feeling of alarm over the situation in the Asiatic dominions of the queen. After expressing great apprehensions based on recent dispatches and private letters The Spectator says: "It is at all events within the limits of possibility that within the next few days all questions which now interest the country may be swallowed up by the intelligence that we have for the second time in the last half century India to reconquer.

"May is the time for insurrections, the people believing that the heat prostrates white men, and if a rising has been arranged it is during this month that it would burst out all over northern India. Just at this time we appear to be receiving one of those strange warnings which have frequently preceded disturbances, and which in 1857 took the form of the distribution of chupatties—little unleavened cakes. Through Behar and a part of the northwest they were distributed by unknown hands, received in silence as by men who understood what they meant and passed on to meet everywhere with the same reception.

"This time it takes the shape of a patch of plaster mixed with hair, with which the trees of the endless mango groves have been secretly bedaubed throughout Behar and the provinces to the east and west. As in 1857, no one knows how this was done, or by whom, though the number of persons involved must be great. The police, if they know anything, reveal nothing, and the people remain lost in that apparently unobservant silence which, throughout Asia, when a dangerous incident occurs, means mischief. That silence implies and proves that if anything serious is intended the Hindoos and Mussulmans, as in 1857, are both in it, for they both understand national ways equally well. The meaning of the chupatti as a signal escaped the government officials in 1857 as the meaning of the distribution of plaster escapes them now."

The alarmist utterances of The Spectator are not without justification. There has been an uneasy feeling in Anglo-Indian circles for months. Many persons of high authority in India have been writing home that "Lord Elgin will have his hands full before long," and "grave occurrences may be expected in the near future." It is significant that the inquiries of the opium commission have contributed much to the discontent among the natives, while the population of the whole north is sulky and rebellious because the government is trying to meet its losses by increasing the assessment of the land tax.—London Letter.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

A GENUINE ROMANCE.

This Is How It Happens In Real Life—A Story of a Young Man and a Girl.

This is a story of a young man and a girl. The girl was pretty. The young man thought she was the most beautiful being he had ever seen.

He met her in the house of a friend in the village in which she lived. He was dazed. He followed her around the entire evening. He tried to make an impression, and when he came away he thought he had impressed her, and he was in the seventh heaven of delight.

He came back to Buffalo. He talked of the girl by day and dreamed of her by night. Business kept him from going again to the village which held the girl and being within its corporate limits. He did not know her well enough to write to her. He moped. His eyes grew dim. He was as sorely stricken with love as a man could be and maintain anything like mental poise.

Last week one day he heard that she was in this city visiting friends. He was wild with delight. A day later a friend of the friends with whom the divinity was staying came to him and said that he thought he could fix things so the stricken young man could take the southern tier girl to the theater. The young man implored him to do so, and he did.

In the days between the theater going and the first arrangements the young man lived in a dream. He invited a married friend and his wife to go along and act as chaperons. They said they would. He looked his dress clothes over carefully, had them cleaned and pressed, bought a new pair of gloves and fixed himself up regardless of cost.

The night came. The young man went after the girl with a carriage. It was the best one he could hire. He had the four best seats in the theater. They saw the play, and he took them to the swellest cafe in town and had luncheon. He ordered champagne like a California millionaire.

Then they drove home. The girl talked of inconsequential matters. She had liked the play. She told the young man that she would be in the city a month longer. They reached the house of her friends. He helped her out of the carriage, and she tripped up ~~the steps, said "Good night" sweetly and~~ vanished behind the heavy doors.

The young man got in the carriage and drove back to the city. He was so full of the image of the girl that he was down town before he had time to think of anything else. Then one extraneous thought did come to him. He sat up straight in the carriage and swore a big, triangular oath.

She had not asked him to call!

He got out of the carriage and went into a hotel. He sought the reading room and seized a sheet of paper. Then he put down these figures in a row:

Carriage	$3 00
Tickets	4 00
Luncheon	10 00
Gloves	2 00
Incidentals	5 00
Total	$24 00

He held that slip of paper in his hand for a long time and gazed at it earnestly, not to say sadly. Finally he rose, and as he did he said hoarsely, "Well, I got the gloves back anyhow."—Buffalo Express.

A Slow Task.

Lieutenant Schwatka, in describing some of the trees near Sonora, says that the ironwood looks very much like a fine variety of the mesquite, the wood of which is a beautiful, bright cherry red. Its name is derived from its hardness and is well deserved. It uses up an ax to fell each tree, and as the quality of different trees is always the same and that of different axes is not, even this ratio of one ax to one tree has to be changed occasionally and always in favor of the tree.

It is said that a tramp who had wandered into that part of the country, with the usual appetite of his class, applied for something to eat. In reply he was told that if he would get out a certain number of rails for a fence the proprietor would give him a week's board.

It was, as he thought, about a day's work that had been assigned him, and bright and early the next morning he sallied out with his ax on his shoulder. Unfortunately the most tempting tree he met was an ironwood, and very late in the evening he returned with the ax helve on his arm.

"How many rails did you split today?" asked his employer.

"I didn't split any, but I hewed out one," was the reply, and then the tramp resigned his position.—Youth's Companion.

"He Laughs Best Who Laughs Last."

A young British soldier was conducting a party from the United States over the citadel at Quebec. One member of the party was a small maid of 9, and to her the young soldier devoted most of his attention. She was a saucy child, full of enthusiasm and blessed with the earnest, aggressive patriotism of extreme youth.

"Here," said the soldier as they stood before two worn brass cannon, "are two guns we took from your people at the battle of Bunker Hill." And he smiled in triumph.

Nonplused for a moment, the child was still; then she looked up. "Come home with me," she said softly, "and I'll show you a whole country we took away from your people about the same time."—Life.

"Or you may be mistress of one of the finest castles in England."

"It can not be nearly so handsome nor so comfortable as my father's palace on the Hudson."

"We have good servants."

"I am yours!"—Puck.

Both Hands Busy.

A negro in Texas was brought up for stealing a pair of chickens, but declared solemnly that he "didn't steal dem ar fowls," declaring, on the other hand, that the complainant had beaten him brutally with a club.

"But," said the judge, "you're twice as large and strong as he is. Why didn't you defend yourself?"

"Why, judge, see hyar. I had a chicken in each hand, an what's two raw chickens agin a club?"—Exchange.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested, that Tuesday, June 12th, 1894, at 8 p. m., and the chambers of the Common Council, on Foundry street, Middletown, N. Y., be and are hereby designated as the time and place when and where the application of the Middletown Goshen Traction Company to the Common Council of the city of Middletown, N. Y., will first be considered for consent and permission of said Common Council, for the construction, maintenance, operation and extension by the said petitioners of a street surface Railroad in the manner and form as provided by law, through the following additional streets, to wit:

Beginning at the intersection of Academy avenue and Benton avenue thence southeasterly through along and upon Benton avenue to a street extending on the northerly side of Blye Park (so called), said street being an extension from Sprague avenue connecting Sprague avenue and Benton avenue; thence through, along and upon the said street to Sprague avenue, connecting the Academy avenue line with the Sprague avenue line of the said railroad company.

Also beginning on Lake avenue, at the intersection of Hanford street, through, along and upon Hanford street from Lake avenue to Knapp avenue; thence through, along and upon Knapp avenue to Chestnut street; thence through along and upon Chestnut street to a street proposed to be opened from Chestnut street as follows, to wit:

Said street beginning at an iron rod driven in the ground on the westerly line of Chestnut street, as now laid out, said rod being 30 feet measured along said westerly line of Chestnut street from the point of intersection of the westerly line of Chestnut street with the easterly line of Bonnell street, as now laid out, and measured from thence S 79 degrees W 321 66 ft crossing Bonnell street to the westerly right of way line of the N. Y., L. E. and W. R. R. and over the said railroad. Said street being 50 feet in width and 25 feet on each side of the above described centre line extending from the westerly line of Chestnut street to the westerly right of way line of the N. Y., L. E. and W. R. R. and connecting Chestnut street with Cornelia street, as now laid out.

Thence through, along, and upon the last described route or highway, as now laid out or to be laid out, to said Cornelia street; thence through, along and upon Cornelia street, as now laid out or to be laid out, to Monhagen avenue connecting the Lake avenue with the Monhagen avenue lines of said company; and also to construct such switches and turnouts as may be convenient for the working of such road, to erect the necessary poles and string the wires through, along and upon said named streets and avenues.

By order of the Common Council.

They were evidently from the remote rural districts and had just been married or were on the very brink of matrimony. They walked along North street, pausing now and then to glance at the store windows, but utterly oblivious to all the passersby. They were both chewing gum, with the vigor of strong maxillary muscles and the abandon of children of nature. It was interesting to note the perfect rythm of the movement of their jaws, which [illegible] have seen in years.

According to a New York weather [illegible] was the name of something quite out of the ordinary and as if it might be quite as bad as a cyclone, but is nothing very dreadful after all, only a general atmospheric current drawn in on the continent from the ocean. It is caused by the heating of the land and consequent decrease of pressure, so that the pressure on the ocean being in excess of the land pressure the moist air is drawn toward the interior. This accounts for the storm satisfactorily enough, but it does not account for the persistency with which the clouds, surcharged with moisture, hang over us [illegible]

[illegible] put in the good old days [illegible] in making sugar. [illegible] glorious administration, [illegible] about as much good as the [illegible] milk is.

The above item appeared in the Times, of the 24th inst., and is from the intelligent Unionville correspondent of that paper. The writer evidently refers to the "good old times" when the waste product mentioned was manufactured into cheese and sugar of milk, and intimates that the present administration is responsible for the change or altered condition of affairs. [illegible] Washington and sugar of milk was included in the schedules of the McKinley humbug, and as a result sugar of milk is now a drug in our own markets at from eight to ten cents per pound. This result has come about through competition, which was induced by the belief that a tariff placed on an article would forever make the manufacture of that article profitable, a mistake many have fallen into. At the time of the enactment of the McKinley law there were four firms engaged in the manufacture of sugar of milk in the United States, and [illegible]
